ETERROPT

1948

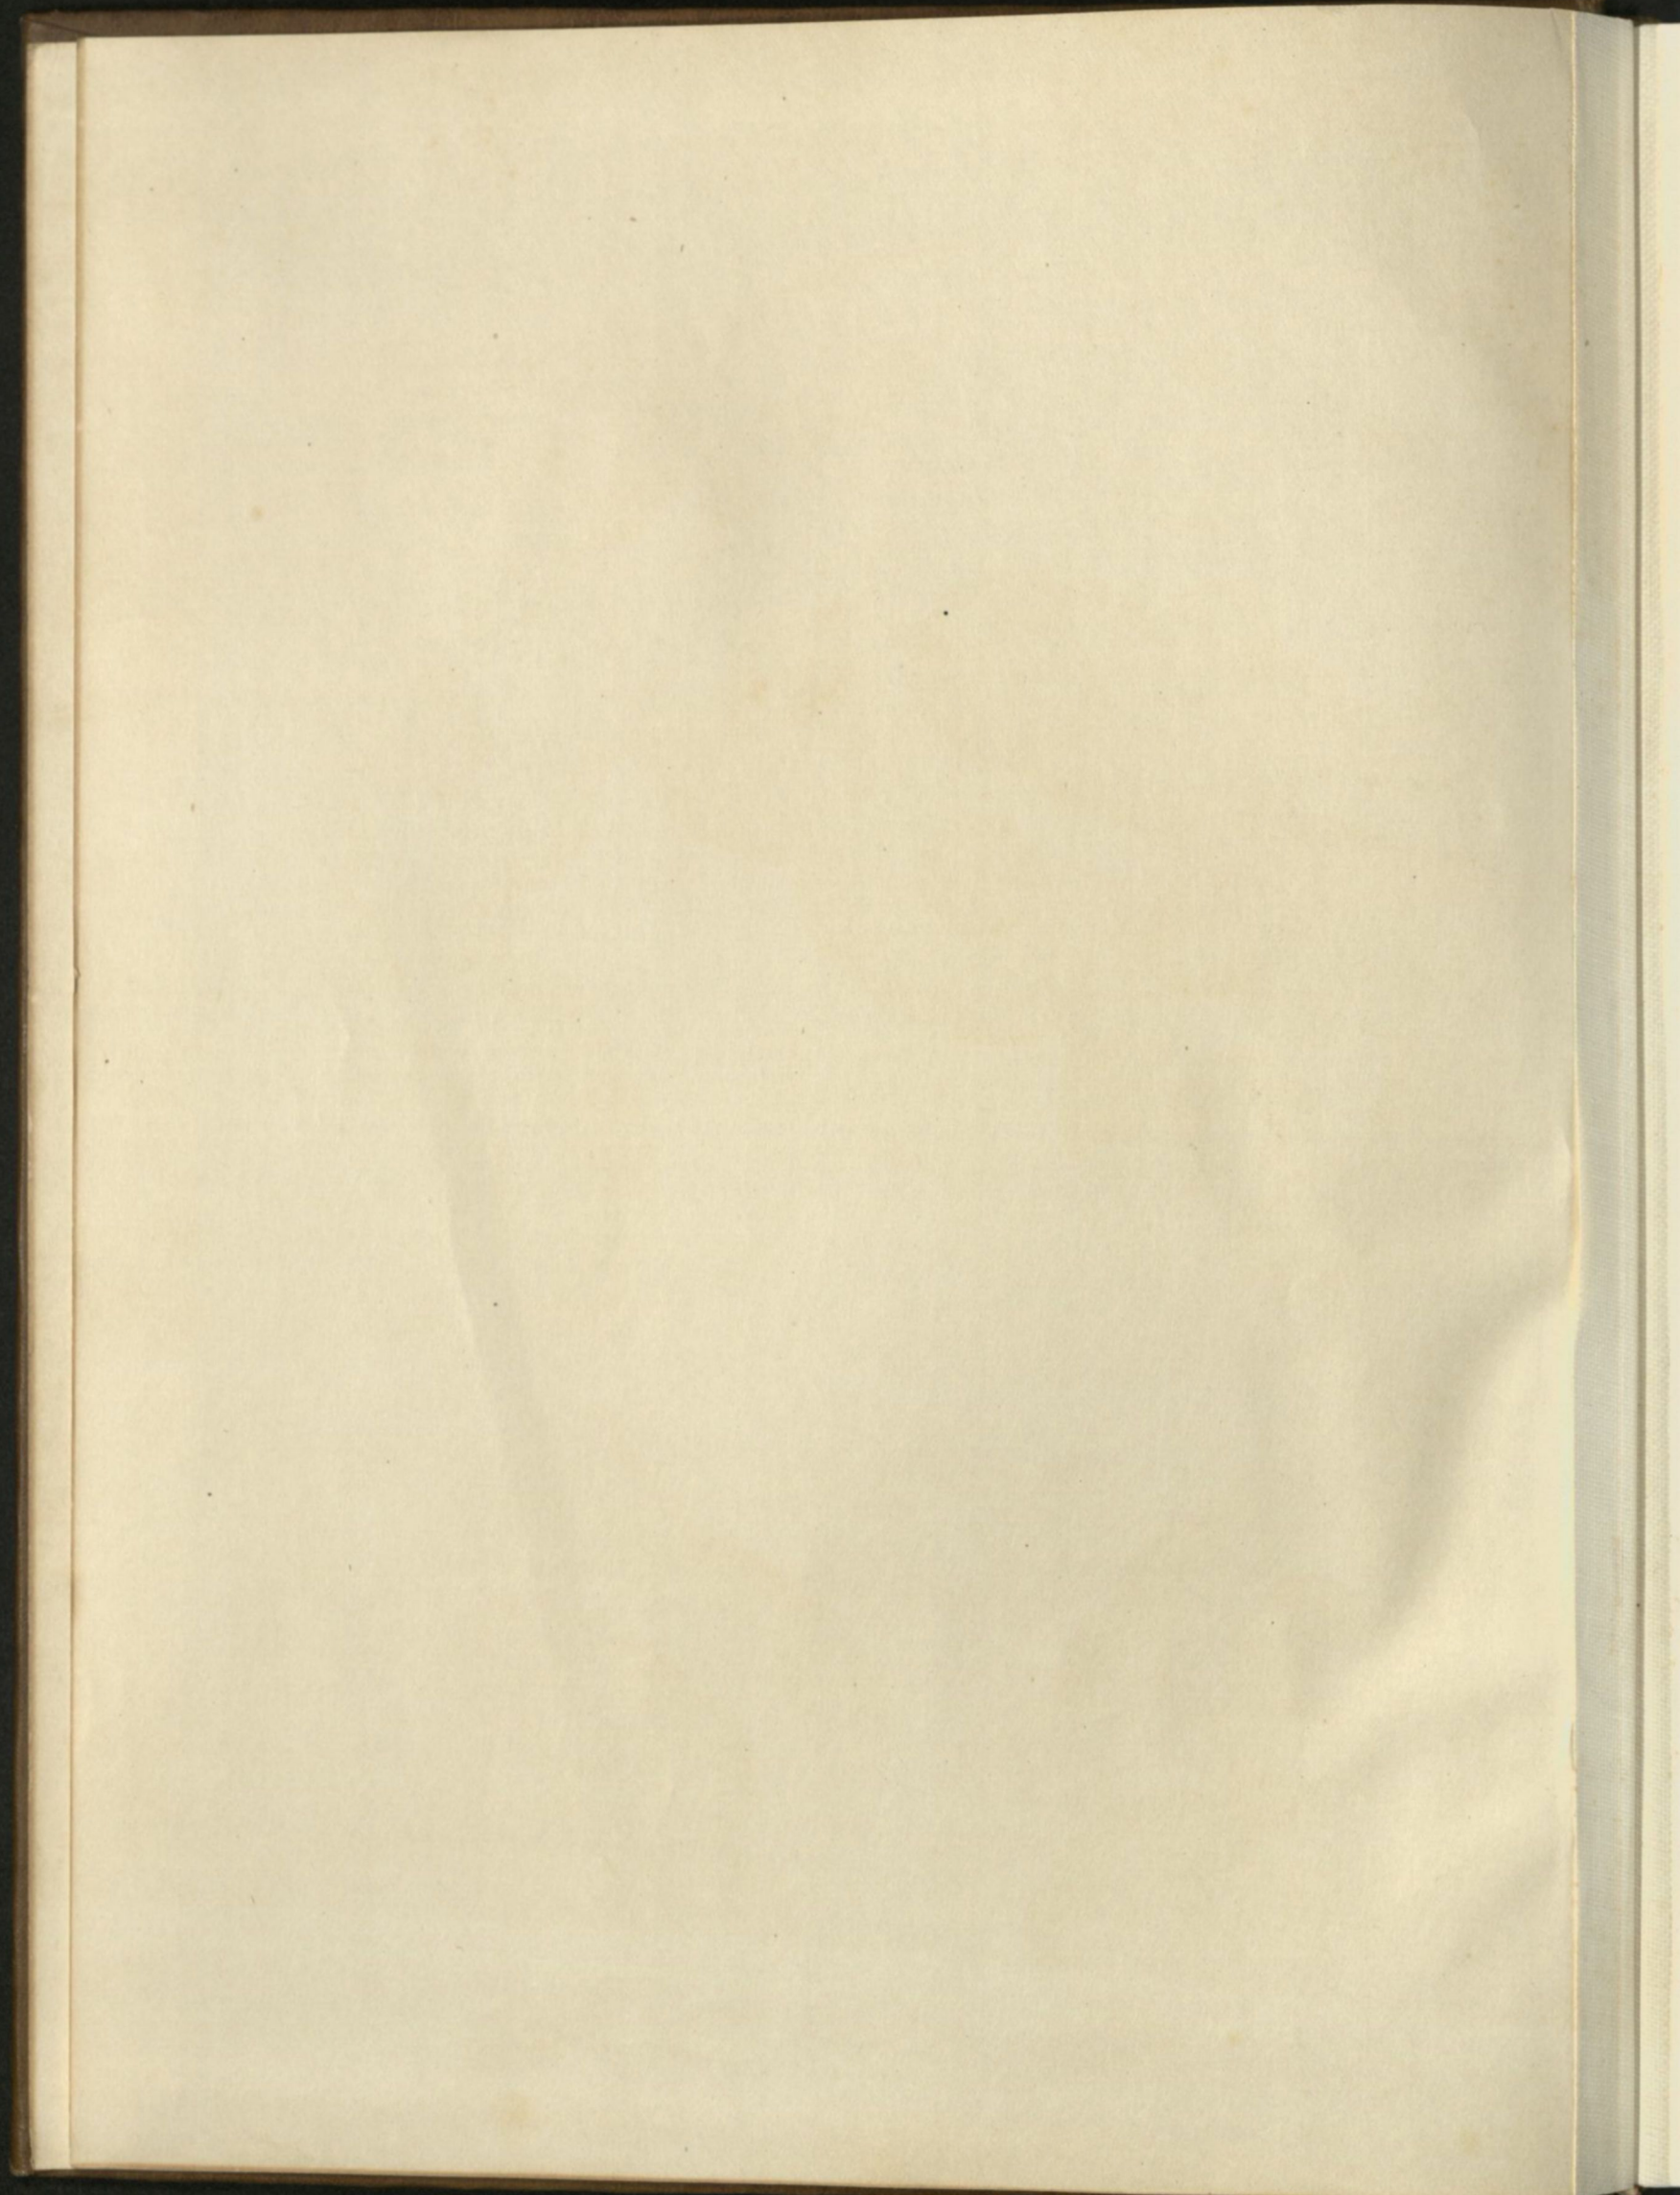

Nineteen Fort

Foreword

Wesleyan is, first of all, a place of preparation for an after life. To direct the lives of the students who become a part of her toward usefulness and happiness is Wesleyan's primary aim. Her total strength is utilized to accomplish this goal. Her success may be read in Wesleyan's standing as an institution.

The 1948 VETERROPT wishes to highlight this primary aim—preparations for a career to be—for life at Wesleyan is shaped upon this pattern and the significance of four years at Wesleyan is revealed only through a study of the pattern's completion.

KATHERINE P. CARNES

Miss Carnes presides over the library with a gracious warmth and charm that have endeared her to all Wesleyannes. Her sympathetic understanding has encouraged us, while her vivacity, enthusiasm and sparkling humor have invited our friendship.

We, the Class of 1948, dedicate our Veterropt to Miss Katherine P. Carnes as a symbol of our appreciation.

SILAS JOHNSON, D.D.

President

Since his arrival at Wesleyan in 1946, Dr. Johnson has shown himself to be devoted to Wesleyan's cause. His determined efforts to improve the school have resulted in a new chapel at Wesleyan. His quiet friendliness, his sincerity, his interest in each student have endeared him to Wesleyan. Under his capable leadership the school is assured of an outstanding future.

The Administration

SAMUEL LUTTRELL AKERS, Ph.D.

Dean of Liberal Arts College

Dean Akers is admired for his scholarship and for his idealism. His quiet manner of sympathetic understanding makes him a friend to many Wesleyannes while his dependability, his unselfish devotion to his job and his unusual ability make him indispensable to Wesleyan.

MISS IVA GIBSON, Dean of Women

Miss Gibson has gained the respect and admiration of all the students for her efficiency and fairness as Dean of Women. She has an understanding of girls and their problems and is a willing and able counselor. As an individual she is charming, friendly, and sincere. Her interest in music and literature make her a stimulating conversationalist.

Senior Class

The Class of 1943 has many memories to share—happy memories of Thanksgiving banquets, midnight talks, gala dances, cokes at the Pharm, the green and gold of a banner waving on the soccer field. Now we have donned the senior's cap and gown. Engagement rings are beginning to outnumber class rings, and we are looking toward the day when we will receive a purple-lined hood and an important document. We have lived fully here, and because our four years at Wesleyan have given us so much, we face the future unafraid, ready to meet the world with high hearts and a sure step, for Wesleyan is part of our heritage.

Seniors

POLLY PHELPS

A light blue sparkle of joy dashing here and there, yet with a calm deliberateness which says she knows where she's going, and makes you feel that she'll get there. A sincere interest in everything and a willingness always to lend that helping hand; and enthusiasm for everything, whether it's her major Religion, her Morning Watch work, or her golf game—this is Polly.

MARGARET MOFFETT

A Florida tan, good-looking clothes, a Ford Coupe—those are pictures that are likely to flash into your mind when thinking of Margaret. She upholds Social Standards traditions and is an invaluable member of the organization. Her quiet sincerity has won many friends for her at Wesleyan.

Seniors

MARY SUE BUTLER

Mary Sue is the little girl who flits across the campus with an air of interest in everything and everybody. Always the first one to jump into a car going to the "Pig", she has a special craving for hamburgers and a love for fun. She is noted for her infectious laugh. Through all her gaiety we see the poise, the friendliness, and the sincere spirit of Mary Sue.

HELEN LOUISE VAUGHAN

Yankee land lent Weasie to us, and we welcomed her to the south with open arms. Crowds often gather around her to hear the latest song hits colored by her torchy-touch. Weasie, with her spontaneous laugh, her flexible personality, is loved by her Wesleyan friends.

Stylish, poised, sincere, frank, gracious, and capable, it's fun to be with Weasie.

Seniors

EMILY BELL

Because of her lovely personality and outstanding abilities Emily has endeared herself to all Wesleyannes. Her talents are many, for she possesses an unusual intellect, a great aptitude for athletics, and a host of leadership qualities in extra-curricular activities. Whether working arduously in the lab, handling a soccer ball, or doing Y. W. C. A. business, Emily gives her best and the outcome is always successful. She is a person whose natural charm and vivacious friendliness mark as a true superlative.

JANE McCOWEN

When you think of fun with a French accent, when you think of sparkling wit, Spanish style; or a true understanding, psychologically speaking, you think of Jane. Looking always like a page out of Mademoiselle, she is the typical Atlanta beauty with blond hair, laughing eyes, and tall gracefulness. "Bunny", as she is called by all, is of the intelligentsia with a real zest for learning and a real flair for living. She loves life, and her friends love it a little more from knowing "Bunny".

Seniors

DORIS POE

It was in Doris's room that the girls from second floor gathered that first day when we were freshmen. We've been gathering in her room ever since. The essence of hospitality and graciousness, Doris has a friendly charm that puts other people at ease. Deep loyalty and sincerity lie beneath her casual, easy going manner, and make her a likable companion and a perfect friend.

BEVERLY REICHERT

To many, Beverly represents a pillar of curve-peaking intelligence, but those who know her realize that hers is the intelligence that blends piercing wit with thoughtful studiousness. Her genius for sympathetic understanding and her rare insight yield her a remarkable dramatic talent. Fair, dependable, conscientious, Sheldon-loving Beverly lives her motto, "This above all, to thine own self be true."

Seniors

BETTY LANE MERRITT

A small, bright package of humor and good cheer, a dynamo of energy, Duck has been the essence of class spirit for four years. The class of '48 without her would be like ham without eggs. Her ingenuity has sparked freshman pranks, WSSF drives, Stunt Night, cheerleading, and soccer season sorties. Duck never meets a stranger—her friendliness is deep and sincere, for there is warm heart beneath her happy-go-lucky manner. Life without Duck would be dull indeed!

SHIRLEY SCOTT

Holler "Scott" and her typifying traits come to mind—like her devotion to cheese, "These Foolish Things", and trumpet solos; always being hoarse after soccer season; or roaming the halls at midnight clad in her famous short, short nightshirt. Her ever greatest claim to fame: ability to turn out required work with minimum time and effort! Scott's quiet simplicity and loyalty to her friends and ideals are as much her trademark as her jet black bangs and l-o-n-g legs. Her poise is that of a blueblood, and her intelligence and interest in life give her confidence in herself and in her future.

Seniors

ELIZABETH HEAN

Elizabeth is a good-natured person who always has a cheerful smile and a word of greeting for everyone she meets. She is industrious and conscientious in her work, and under her capable and dependable leadership many club projects have been successful. Her wit, her keen sense of humor, her fondness for bridge have made her many friends at Wesleyan. They tease her about her Yankee accent; but Liz, good sport that she is, laughs with them. Her spirit of co-operation and desire to do a good turn whenever possible make her a good friend.

ROSALINE GILMORE

With her sweet disposition and simple friendliness, Rosaline has made a host of friends. Because of her beautiful voice and outstanding talent, she has taken a leading part in musical activities here at Wesleyan. She is generous with the talent which brings so much pleasure to others. Rosie's calm nature and genuine friendship attract all who know her; her merry, infectious giggle invites everyone to join in the fun. Truly Rosie possesses the rare combination of talent and a flair for gracious living which make for a sparkling personality.

Seniors

JANE CLAPP

To a casual acquaintance, Jane's altogether wonderful traits may be hidden beneath her unassuming manner. She is the unique girl who doesn't talk about herself, shows true interest in others without ever intruding, and knows when to be quiet. Jane's always ready for spur-of-the-moment adventure, practical jokes—she has a subtle wit, a twinkle in her brown eyes. Generous, understanding, slow to criticize, she possesses a rare wisdom, almost a "sixth sense" about people. Sincere and honest, sustained by a deep faith, Jane's is a remarkably well balanced personality.

BLANCHIE BURGESS

Blanchie has the characteristic qualities of a true lady—dignity, poise, sincerity, an unfailing tact. She is sweet in the very sense of the word, kind and generous. "Gossip" is not in Blanchie's vocabulary; she refuses to think less than the best of anybody. She has a gentle nature, a soft-voiced, child-like innocence. Her blue eyes twinkle brightest when she tells her friends, "Windsor's coming!" Blanchie has a strong sense of responsibility, a ready sympathy, and a real consideration for others that make it a pleasure to know her.

Seniors

ELIZABETH WALKER

Liz is interested—in radio, in music, in her friends, clothes, and fun. Hers is a versatile personality; she's able to take part in almost every campus activity, and always ready to pitch in where she's needed. She is practical, capable, dependable, and steadfastly loyal. Liz adapts easily to people and circumstances; everybody likes her easy-going way, her enthusiasm, her cheerfulness. If she has a hobby, it's telling a good story. An attractive gal with a magnetic personality—that's Liz.

LUCY BUSHNELL

Lucy loves people deeply, and she, herself, is as lovable as a grown-up little girl. A keen perception for others' moods, a sympathetic heart and a clear vision make her the "friend who knows our faults and loves us still." Lucy is frank, honest with herself as well as with everyone else. She has a fundamental desire to fill any need, and she is both intelligent and capable. She has a scientific mind, but she appreciates the best in literature and music, with a special emphasis on Wagner. Lucy is always completely herself, with no pretensions—a practical girl with a warm heart and high ideals, who enjoys life and knows the value of laughter.

Seniors

VIRGINIA GREEN

An exploding laugh two octaves in length, an unbelievable head of red hair arranged in an unbelievable hair-do, an outfit of green from head to toe, and a script in hand—that's Virginia. Anytime—day or night—you could find her rushing to the "Conserve" to transform herself into Mrs. Craig, Hippolyta, the Mad Hatter, Jo March, or one of the other characters for which we remember her. For a contagious happiness, friendliness, a distinctive voice, and a tireless spirit—look to Green.

MARY PATE

A laughing, jovial voice which can be heard in the dormitory often, in the library usually, or the "pharm" always; a smiling face—a familiar walk; shining black hair, and eyes that radiate a warm, everfriendly sincerity with time out for a joke or a song (by MacDonald and Eddy, please!)—that's "Patey."

Seniors

ELIZBETH HARMAN

Libba is the spirit of Wesleyan . . . versatile, intellectual, energetic, thoughtful, loyal, conscientious, unselfish. She is a relentless worker whose willingness to co-operate and level-headed judgment keep her in constant demand. Libba has an ability to explain simply that has often cleared cloudy minds before one of Dr. Gin's fatal exams. Libba—her steadfast courage and firmness of purpose—a true Superlative.

PEGGY BEESON

"Senorita" Beeson, strangely enough, has Irish blue eyes and curly black hair. A Kansas girl who gets kidded about her accent, she loves the South, and above all, she loves Wesleyan. She has given it her best for four years. Peggy's keen intellect is aided by untiring diligence; she is completely dependable and loyal. Her intellectual maturity is spiced with a love of good clean fun, enthusiasm for Spanish music, and a deep appreciation of others. Peggy gets our vote for "most likely to succeed."

Seniors

BETTY JO HAMMOCK

Happy-go-lucky B. J. is at her best when she's on the go, whether it's riding to town on the bus, going home, or to the beach. Seldom serious, she is always ready with a witty comeback to any remark. B. J. really loves life and enjoys living to the fullest.

HATTIE BLACK BAKER

Blackie is always ready to see the best in everybody. She has been a conscientious worker in College Government and a loyal supporter of the Art Department. Back of Blackie's warm personality—her grace and charm—there is little girl friendliness and naivete combined with a grown-up philosophy of optimism.

Seniors

MARILYN BLASINGAME

Marilyn's nickname "Blaze" aptly describes her colorful personality and vivacity. Thoroughly alive and interested in everything about her, she makes a striking picture as she flings her mass of blond hair back over her shoulders to emphasize a statement. Well dressed and well groomed, she is an animated version of Mademoiselle's ideal college girl.

ANN HERRITAGE

Find a combination of idealism and realism blended in just the proper qualities, and you will find Ann. She speaks in the soft, slow voice of a dreamer, but the ideas she expresses are sincere and earnest. She possesses an indefinable little girl air. Her flashes of dry humor, together with her conscientiousness in everything she undertakes, make her a person whose friendship is valuable.

Seniors

ANNIE ANDERSON

Annie Gantt—laughing eyes, brilliant smile, a personality plus. A girl who has countless friends and admirers, one who studies diligently, yet finds time for countless "outside activities". Annie is the gracious and charming Phi Delt sponsor; she is known for her dependability and capable leadership. She will be remembered for her irrepressible good nature, and as an enthusiastic and understanding friend.

SARAH CURRY

"A daughter of the gods, divinely tall and most divinely fair . . ." Tennyson's lines perfectly describe Curry's statuesque beauty and her grace. Beneath Sarah's coolly lovely exterior, there is a deep seriousness, a sense of responsibility, unswerving loyalty to high ideals. She has the courage and the competence to see every task she undertakes well done. Wesleyannes will remember her, swift and sure on the basketball court or the soccer field, poised on a diving board, frantically studying for one of Dr. Gin's tests, glowingly beautiful at a dance. Her sincerity and her charm make hers a lovely personality.

Seniors

ANICE WILLCOX

Anice's energetic personality has led her into many fields here at Wesleyan. She adapts herself to any situation, and meets each one with a smile on her face. She is quick to see a person's better qualities, and she is a true friend.

RHETT JENKINS

The times when Rhett isn't busy with The Watchtower are the best. She sails down the hall by scooter on one of her "pop" calls either to bull a while or tell her newest jokes. We'll remember too the determination and the capability which put few things out of her reach.

Seniors

THELMA PITTMAN

"S'il vous plait, Mademoiselle, cela va sans dire!" said with a twinkle in her brown eyes. A style, a grace, a charm, and a Southern accent, suh! None other than TeeGee, one of the suite-seniors whose weekends are filled by a demand from Tech. Her main enthusiasm is language, but Social Standards also benefitted from her ideas and tastes.

MARIE WILSON

Argyle socks, dining room doors closing on her, and the Athletic Association all rush to mind with the thought of Marie. These are momentary. The important things—the thoughts we'll take with us—will be of her intelligent approach to living, her feeling of responsibility towards others, and her friendship. These are lasting.

Seniors

KATHLEEN THOMASSON

"Dad-gum, y'all, dad-gum!" and Kathy tries to type another journalism assignment, and at the same time, to talk to a room full of seniors. A vivacious, witty conversationalist, whose main topic is "Willie" and June. She has short, blonde, curly hair; a sparkle in her eyes, and also on her third finger left hand. Needless to say Kathy is full of plans for the future!

PATRICIA ARNALL

"Pat" is our girl with the "pastel" personality. Her quietness and reserve are as restful as fluffy pink and blue. Unexpected witticisms and a sincere, bubbly giggle about struggles with Spanish and "Crips" which unfailingly backfired keep us laughing. Impulsive dashes to town in the rain and afternoon trips to the Pharm are always fun with Patsy.

Seniors

HENRIETTA SISK

Henrietta's basic characteristic is sincerity. She applies this honesty to all parts of her life—to herself, to her ideals and to her relationships with humanity in general. As a counterpart to her integrity, Henrietta has developed an unselfishness which is one of the most appealing features of her personality. The "first mile" is only the beginning of Henrietta's generosity as many at Wesleyan could testify. With these unique traits Henrietta combines an efficient and well disciplined mind and a friendly responsiveness that insures success and admiration.

ALLENE THOMPSON

Allene knows how to take life easy yet get the most enjoyment out of it. She has a penetrating sense of humor, a love for fun, and a profound dislike for sham and hypocrisy. Almond-shaped brown eyes under sheik bangs give an elfin note to her smooth sophistication. Frank, understanding and vividly dramatic, Allene has a fascination for all who know her.

Seniors

BETTY SEALY

With characteristic stubbornness Betty refused to allow large brown eyes and provocative dimples to interfere with the development of a delightful personality. A sense of humor that is subtle, unexpected and most often expressed in puns makes her an entertaining companion. Dignity and poise give her a sophistication that is a surprising contrast to her aimable disposition and her easy going philosophy of life. Her efficiency often goes long unrecognized because of her unassuming manner. Sincerity and integrity are two of Betty's many sterling qualities.

ROSEMARY BOUNDS

Rosemary, the unconventional, miraculously gets things done in an efficient way at the last possible minute. "Roving Reporter" apparently feels that a survey of student opinion is of no value unless Rosemary's is included and her political sagacity is seen regularly in the column. Rosemary dislikes the sentimental, thinks deeply, dresses stylishly and is a true friend.

Seniors

ROSE CROCKETT

Rose is noted for her spontaneous wit, for her contagious laughter, for her interested questions. A rigorous code of ideals and a deep love of truth set her apart. Rose's world is an Arabian Nights full of an intense joy in little things. She lives in that world with calm nonchalance. She observes it with dreamy eyes and is happy. Rose is the ideal guest, the true friend.

JANE MOBLEY

Modern—the sophistication of blonde hair on black crepe, the gay mystery of bright, inquiring eyes, prove the adjective correct. Jane's personality is like a bold, rhythmic curve of sculpture—impulsive—vibrant—aesthetic in the love of simple, forceful music and art—strong in independence and a realistic conception of life and people—spiritual in the high ideals she sets for her life.

Seniors

MARY MCCOWEN

Mary almost fools us sometimes with her happy-go-lucky attitude in the dormitory, but in the library and the classroom she becomes a conscientious student. Her major pops up continually—she interprets everything in terms of “social significance.” Her dorm knows each time she gets a call from that guy at Duke—she tosses off her bedroom shoes as she makes her famous dash down the hall to the phone booth. Class spirit is synonymous with Mary Mac, especially in soccer season. Her genuine capacity for enjoying life and making friends, plus a bubbling, optimistic nature assure her of a future bright with happiness.

JANEY LEWIS

By turns the chic sophisticate and the comic singer of “Leave the Dishes in the Sink” fame, Janey is an all-round gal. Her distinctive voice is no more her trademark than her ready wit—she has the wonderful ability to laugh at herself. A talented entertainer, a capable manager, and a conscientious worker, Janey is also a loyal friend. Janey expresses equal enthusiasm whether it be due to a forthcoming concert or because of one of her frequent weekend trips to neighboring universities. She’s popular, always in the midst of the fun, effervescent as a sparkling bubble in champagne, full of ideas and ready to help.

Seniors

JEANNE LYDA

There are some people who have a serenity and a talent of adapting themselves, so that they come out of each of life's experiences as better people. Jeanne is one of these people, reserved, calm, neat, charming. A combination of a sense of fitness and a sense of responsibility make her the reliable person she is, while her innate dignity, her smiling eyes, and her quiet sweetness make her the recipient of many, many phone calls.

GENE THAMES

A bright scarf, a jolly twinkle in gold eyes, perfect manners, and that South Carolina accent, remind friends of Gene. Blond and bland, enthusiastic and energetic, cheerful and charming, she is a delightful friend. Although Gene is carefully studious, she is always ready for fun, or for a straight-forward conversation, or to help her friends out in a pinch.

Seniors

MONIQUE SAMSON

Our class excitedly awaited Monique's arrival from Paris in September of 1946. We were proud of the cosmopolitan aspect a Parisienne would give our class. We expected a petite, brown-eyed girl, but were not disappointed when Monique turned out to be a striking pageboy blonde. Her vivacity and characteristic French charm quickly won our hearts. Courageous, generous, and sincere. Monique has given us a deeper appreciation of her nation.

MIRIAM BOLAND

Miriam is a red head with all the fiery energy that traditionally accompanies red hair. Always friendly and cheerful, she is one of those amazing people who can laugh before breakfast. She is whimsical, impulsive and generous. An elfin quality coupled with an appealing smile gives her a winsome manner.

Seniors

MARY CHAMBERS

"This above all, to thine own self be true . . ." Integrity is the keystone of Mary's character. She has the courage, the strength of purpose, the level-headed judgment, the far-sightedness necessary for leadership. College Government and Wesleyan in general have profited from her devotion to duty, her fairness, her tireless work. Well-rounded in her abilities, she is a good student, an unforgettably good "goalie." Freshmen have found her a guiding light; her friends know her as a fun-to-be-with, very human, lovable girl.

ERNESTINE LANE

Practical, down-to-earth, talented, a good judge of people, Teen is different. Her ideas are her own; she is a deep thinker, earnest and sincere. Straightforward, loyal, dependable, she has the courage of her convictions. Teen knows how to keep her own counsel. Her one-sided grin flashes her appreciation of a joke, and she's never at a loss for a funny comeback. Equally ready for a game of leap-frog in the hall or a wee-hours philosophical discussion, Teen is nice to be with, whatever the mood or the hour.

Seniors

DOTTIE ANNE SMITH

A "lover of life and the bounty of life," Dottie Anne brings light and laughter wherever she goes. Shining brown eyes, expressive hands, a gay trill of melody, a ballerina twirl—D. A. can't repress her joy in just being alive. Her humor is infectious, her spirits catching; you can't help being happy when she's around. Her little-girl naivete and her warm friendliness are endearing; she has high principles and an uplifting philosophy of life. She shares her talents generously, enriching the lives of everybody around her.

RUTH NESBITT

Admired for her natural beauty, her vivacious laugh, her friendly spirit, her popularity, she is a lover of nature and all the arts. She thrives on excitement, has an unlimited enthusiasm for fun. Ruth, pursued by innumerable beaux, is definitely a belle. With her old-fashioned hair-do, the vogue of today, she could grace an Old South plantation as delightfully as she does Wesleyan's campus.

Seniors

LEANORE DIPPY

Lee is a fascinating study in versatility. Utterly indefatigable, she is forever doing a thousand things at once, and doing them well. Fortright and direct, she still reflects in her crisp speech the influences of her beloved Philadelphia. She is completely feminine, and has an inborn love of music. Her keen mind, clear perception and vivid style of expression leave an indelible impression upon everyone with whom she comes in contact.

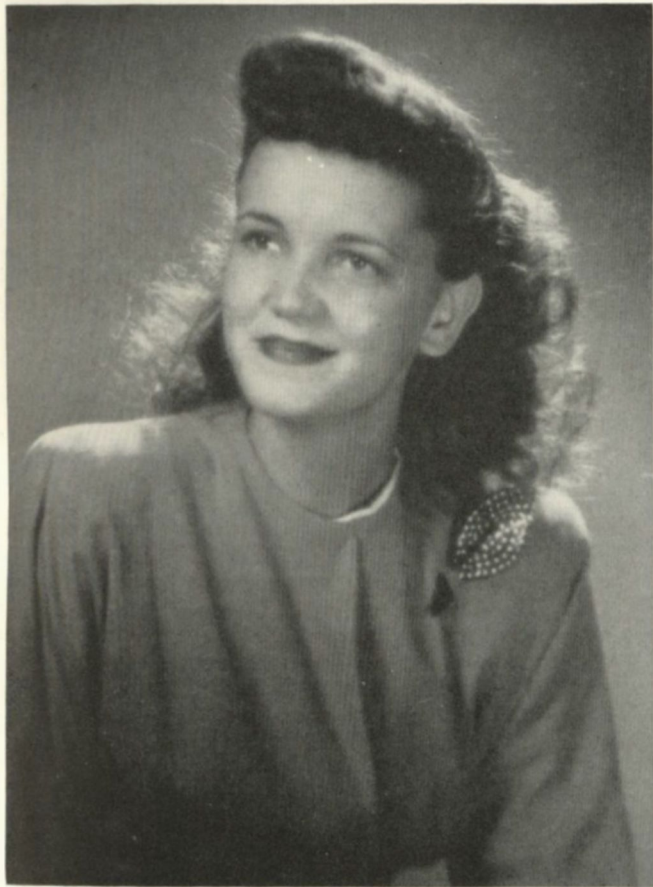

VIRGINIA STARNES

A ringing laugh, a timely pun, a practical joke—that's Starnes. But there is more than a delightful sense of humor—there is poise, exquisite taste, unselfishness, consideration and a friendliness that is contagious. Behind the fastidiously groomed exterior, there is a heart big and generous to share others' problems, and a head full of good common sense to suggest solutions. Starnes is a bridge maniac, a unique mathematician, a genuine good sport, and a charming, happily engaged girl.

Seniors

MARTHA YARBROUGH

Martha is never in a hurry. She is always the same easy-mannered, dreamy girl; slow to show dislike, ready to praise honesty, and generous in her opinions of others. Pretty, carefree, and delightfully refreshing in her originality, Martha shows a sensitive loyalty and an impulsive kindness that makes her lovely to know. Her quiet simplicity and sweetness make her the one for her Dick.

ANNE VINSON

As "still water runs deep", so there is a depth to Vinson's character which many may not know because she is so quietly generous and steadfastly loyal to her ideals. Her heart is in tune with the best for which Wesleyan stands. She is a self-less person, asking no recognition for her good works. The class of '48 will remember Vinson's skilled footwork on the soccer field and her marvelous timing on the basketball court. She works tirelessly to help others; she is slow to criticize; and also friendly and understanding. Her inner security, her deep thinking, and unswerving faith which she makes a way of life are inspiration to those who know her.

Seniors

BETTY MATTHEWS

Impish ways and sophistication definitely make a rare combination, but B. M. has just that reflected in her personality. With a toss of her smooth, shining page boy conversation, her blase attitude always steps out to underscore her outspoken frankness. She has a passion for indulging in any activity with her whole heart and conscientious nature. Matthews loves night life, whether it be in the dormitory or off the campus.

LUCIA DOMINGOS

We're not fooled by those short black bangs or her diminutive size, for we know "The Little One" is really dynamic in a small package! Her dry wit can produce the most surprising and unique remarks, and there is no doubt that as captain of the winning soccer team, Lucia showed skill in leadership as well as in her favorite sport. Though her classmates will long remember her, the Pharm will miss her most of all. Without "Little Bit's" order for a coke and a hamburger twice a day, it won't be the same.

Seniors

ANNE RAGAN

Anne is envied for her slow, easy-going manner. She will be remembered as a lovely, airy figure leaping and turning—a delightful ballerina. Anne's legs compliment any shoes, be it saddle oxford or spike heels. Always graceful and dainty, her charm, poise, and beauty make her a little lady of great distinction.

GLORIA EUYANG

Gloria has truly been a "Miss Charming" every day she has spent at Wesleyan. She is the essence of femininity—daintily beautiful, poised, gracious, a little bit mysterious. She surprised us with mischievous fun, subtle remarks; one feels that Gloria knows all the secrets of gracious, abundant, living. Her thoughtfulness, her engaging manner, her generosity and her warm friendliness have endeared her to every Wesleyanne. We'd like to say "Thank you!" to China for sending Gloria to us.

Seniors

BETH QUILLIAN

Beth is remembered looking immaculate even in blue jeans, sprinting to the dining room or a bus, keeping midnight dates with a calculus problem, glowing as she looks forward to the approach of a weekend and Bo. Kind, warm-hearted, generous, Beth thinks of her friends first. Her keen mind goes straight to the core of any problem. She is noted for her class spirit—the enthusiasm, dependability, interest, and never-say-die spirit that make her go on working when anybody else would be ready to quit. She has given generously of her time, her energy, and her inspiring zeal to the Class of '48.

MARGIE BURTON

Margie is an exceptionally well-rounded person. She has been a capable assistant to Mrs. Pafford and a talented student of Modern Language. Her lovely blue eyes and her sense of style add to her attractive manner. Sincerity, consideration, thoughtfulness are among the outstanding characteristics of her personality. Her willingness to help, her originality, and her loyal spirit combine to make her one of Wesleyan's very own.

Seniors

ANN BRIDGERS

Ann is always quiet, calm, and collected. She has a deep understanding and sympathy for people. Her co-operative spirit and willingness to contribute her time and effort wherever they are needed have made her an asset to every group of which she has been a part. She'll be remembered best because she is efficient, practical, conscientious, and a good friend.

LOUISE STANLEY

Serenity and poise that spring from a well-balanced mind are two of Louise's charms. Her graciousness and tact carry her through the most difficult situations. Her industry makes her an asset to the library. One of the many Macon girls who have made Wesleyan a second home, Louise exhibits the sincerity and friendliness for which Wesleyan is noted.

Seniors

MADGE YAWN

Madge is a once-upon-a-time girl, a twentieth century elf with a magical sparkle in her autumn-brown eyes and on her third finger, left hand. She's as sturdy-hearted as a brownie, as cheerful as a pixie, as conscientious as one of Santa's helpers. Madge—an unselfish daughter and sister, a loyal friend, a glowing bride-to-be. Madge—a compound of loves, for her family, her friends, her “Bubber.”

KATHERINE PERRYMAN

Shining brown eyes that always make the first impression; black ballerinas; an SAE pin; and “Robert” in that special way, complete the characterization. Katherine transferred from Shorter her junior year and quickly made Wesleyan her home. Her major is sociology, but her interests also include music, Robert, the dance club, and oh yes—Robert!

Seniors

ELIZABETH CONNER TUCKER

Elizabeth has that enviable combination of brains and beauty. Creative and original, she is always serving on committees—decorating for dances, writing stunt night skits, designing costumes—getting things done at the last minute possible. Elizabeth's excellent taste in clothes only adds to the loveliness of those big brown eyes and that flawless complexion. Wesleyan's "Miss Charming" who became Mrs. Tucker.

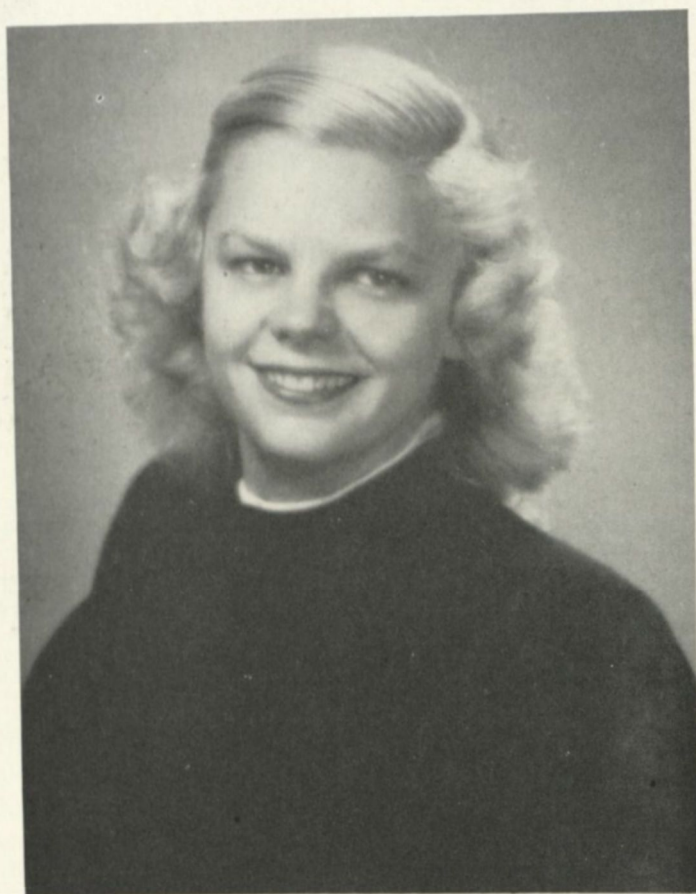

MARY ASTUMIAN

Sincere, graceful, thoroughly friendly, Mary is an outstanding dancer. Although she is quiet at times, reminding us of the old saying, "Still waters run deep", at other times she is spontaneously gay and lively. Somehow, Mary seems always at ease, completely unassuming, optimistic, fun-loving. She was born with a head for clear thinking, an ear for good listening, a heart for generous understanding, and a lovely personality.

Seniors

BETTY KENDRICK

Blond and baby-faced, B. K. belies that wide-eyed look with a blunt frankness and an admirably straightforward way of looking at things. Intensely loyal, her friendship is to be treasured. She will be remembered for her dry comments on life and people; her ready and appreciative laughter; her mad love for night shirts, french onions, "Rich's, Georgia", Al Jolson, and most of all, her beloved South.

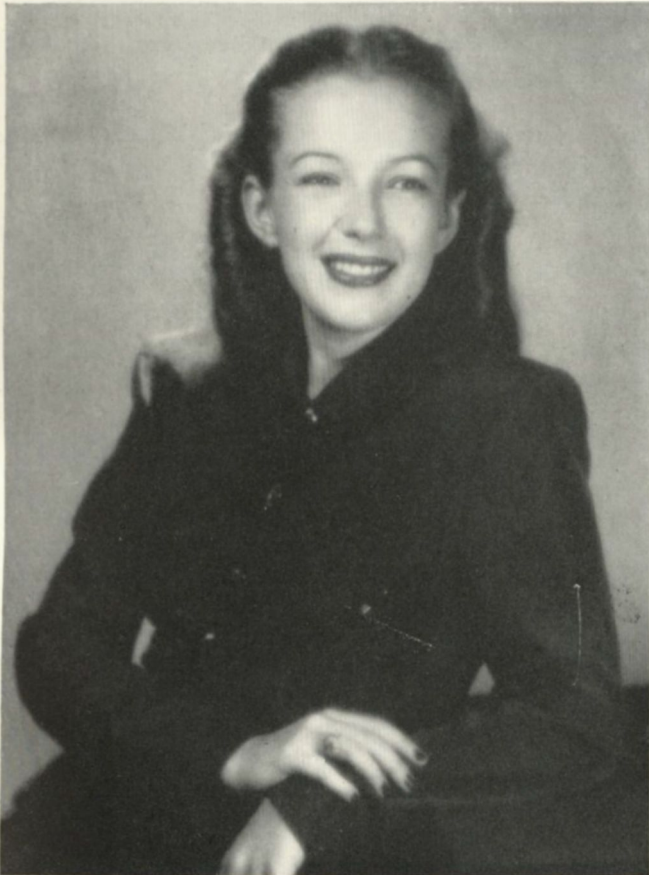

BETTY WILLIS

Willie is a girl with plenty of class spirit, though she's not always sure in which class to use it. She started out with the juniors, but graduates with the seniors. Both classes want Willie because of her dependability, her athletic skill, and her way with a paint brush. She's always in demand whether it's an attention-getting poster or a stunt night backdrop that is needed. On the soccer field and in the basketball court, it's always best to be on Willy's side. Friendly, straightforward, well-dressed, and witty, it's no wonder that versatile Willie is popular.

Seniors

ANNE QUINNEY

Even the slightest acquaintances remember Anne's impetuous, joyful, warmhearted laughter. They remember too her soft, old-fashioned beauty, the neat page boy and silver combs. They envy her friends the pleasure of confiding in her, of inciting sympathy in her gentle blue-green eyes. And musings about the future, they see her a wife and mother, devoted, understanding.

CAMILLA WEST

A lasting impression of Camilla is one of her wearing Kelly green complimented by her dark copper hair and a personality always accompanied by a full smile and sincere good humor. Within are the traits which have made her so invaluable to our class. She is conscientious about studying and her "yes" when asked to undertake a job is certainty that it will be accomplished graciously and efficiently.

Seniors

ROBERTA WILLIAMSON PARKER

Lovely eyes, lovely hair, lovely slender hands with graceful creative fingers indicate the artistic qualities of this Wesleyanne whose tastes are "strictly modern." She has combined the most outstanding qualities of her personality in her home. Her warm graciousness has endeared her to "Tommy" and to all who know her.

BAREARA RICHARDSON

"Barby" to those who know her best, there is lyric precision in the calmness, the neatness, the rhythm of her actions. We will remember her by the elfin twinkle that breaks through her quiet sophistication. We remember her, too, slaving for Mr. Gwin's journalism and always coming through with flying colors.

Seniors

SUE KEEN

Sue, with her South Georgia drawl and nonchalant attitude, has shown us the way to take life slow and easy in true Southern fashion. Her philosophy has been carried out in her academic life—for four years she has consistently gone to bed at nine o'clock the night before a quiz. But when we remember her as the famous "Prissy" in Stunt Night, or as a Bronze Beauty, displaying her legs in the Minstrel Show, we know that she too can be stirred to action. Conversations with Sue are punctuated by dry wit and frankness; her eternal question is, "What's all this calculus gonna do for me?"

JEAN COWART

Jean can be epitomized easily by her calmness, her naivete, her graciousness, and her unselfishness. With tinkling laughter and shining face, she willingly offers a helping hand for dance plans and decorations, or sound ideas for campus progress. Her good nature and gentle tact make her the one who continually smooths over rough edges. Whether Jean has innocent sophistication or sophisticated innocence, we don't know, but we are sure she has plans for "Mo!"

JULIANNE MCDANIEL

Julianne is tall, slender and graceful. Her brown eyes are lovely and kind. A strong sense of conviction and determination add an attractive element to a gracious personality. Poise, responsiveness and loyalty are other qualities which endear her to all who know her.

ELIZABETH ELYEA

Elizabeth, with her wide, innocent brown eyes and ready smile, goes her calm way in the hubbub of dormitory life. Gentle and sweet, she is always interested in the joys and sorrows of others, always ready to help. She never thinks ill of anyone; her kindness and generosity are genuine.

PAULA YU

After graduating from college in China, Paula came to Wesleyan to learn to speak English. She is classified as a special student, but the seniors feel a sense of kinship with her and like to think of Paula as a special member of the Senior class.

Junior Class

Juniors!—the word became our identity as we unpacked our long skirts and Gibson Girl blouses last September and prepared to undertake the responsibilities of Wesleyan upperclassmen. Our class was smaller but more united in spirit, feeling itself an important part of Wesleyan. We made friends with the freshman class. Class rings next occupied our thoughts as we anticipated the pleasure of wearing them in the spring. Soccer season came, and we flaunted the red and white banner. We dug in deep, studying our majors, defying Shakespeare and Abnormal alike. Basketball, Stunt Night, and the swimming meet came and were gone. Final exams were at hand and with them the realization that our junior year was past. It had brought to each of us a deeper understanding of friendship and co-operation and a greater love for Wesleyan.

Sophomore Class

We'll soon be leaving the Sophomore Class, with reluctance but with many happy memories. This has been a thrilling year, full to the brim with treasures, and we have been proud of our name — Sophomores.

We'll always remember the excitement of Rat day—our funny, weird faces and the lamp shaded figures at our mercy. Soccer games with banners high and voices ringing were followed by the Thanksgiving Banquet which left us in sentimental tears. Soon afterwards we were caught in a whirl of green and red ribbons, silver bells and twinkling lights. Christmas at Wesleyan is very special. When we returned from the holidays, we found ourselves heaped in those dreaded exams, but soon they were forgotten in basketball tournaments and last minute plans for stunt night. We remember with sighs the spring which softly covered our campus in gay green and brought to us "May Day" and "Spring Frolics," days happy and carefree.

We've learned lots of things too—how to swing a tennis racket, how to surface dive, how to dissect a frog. We've struggled through Bulfinch, traveled into Palestine, and spouted Spanish. But most of all, we've learned more of what it means to be a Wesleyanne.

Freshman Class

Filled with excitement and wonder at everything in our new surroundings, we began our life at Wesleyan. We filled our rooms with high school souvenirs, crowded our memories with student government rules, and out of our mental chaos tried to produce some correct answers on innumerable placement tests. Having learned to like those terrifying strangers, our roommates, we discovered the fun of Saturday afternoons in town, midnight snacks, journeys to the pharm, new fads, and college lingo. Our haphazard study was gradually replaced by nights of concentration in the library. Soccer, volley ball, basketball, and swimming kept us in trim. College clubs and organizations claimed our attention, making us more and more a part of Wesleyan. Now we come to the end of our freshman year leaving nine months crammed full of happy memories behind us. Next year we will be mighty sophomores, but the fun of being freshmen will never be forgotten.

College

Every member of Wesleyan College is a part of student government. Through the honor system each Wesleyanne assumes responsibilities for her self and her fellow students. In this way each student upholds social and academic regulations made for the good of Wesleyan as a whole.

A Constitution approved by the faculty provides a basis for the rules and regulations enforced by college government, while a Senate elected by the students keeps the Constitution up to date.

The purpose of the College Government Association is to lead this self-governing organization, to help each girl shoulder her responsibilities, and to integrate the student body with loyalty toward Wesleyan College.

The Wesleyan Young Woman's Christian Association unites all creeds and faiths in its attempt to help the student realize the values of religion. An organized program of worship is directed by the members of the association including regular chapel services, Vesper services twice a week, and daily Morning Watch services. Religious Emphasis Week, which is held twice a year, is sponsored by the "Y". One of the most active campus organizations, members of the "Y" work at the Hepzibah Children's Home, at Macon Nurseries, with local Negro children and in the local hospitals. "Y" conducts European relief drives and directs the annual "Stunt" night which has become an outstanding feature in the program of student activities.

Athletic Association

MARIE WILSON
President

The Athletic Association is one of the most important campus organizations. The purpose of the organization is to give every girl a chance to participate in a variety of athletic activities, both team and individual. Each year this association sponsors three tennis tournaments, a golf, a ping pong, and a badminton tournament. Class spirit is maintained at a high pitch throughout the year in the keen competition of soccer, basketball, volley ball, and swimming tournaments. The Tennis Club, the Hiking Club, Freshman Splinters, and Naiads are sponsored by the Athletic Association. Among the most enjoyable occasions of campus life are the student-faculty softball games each spring and the annual student-faculty play night, both sponsored by this organization. Ever striving to maintain its ideals of good sportsmanship, physical skill, mental alertness, and joviality, A. A. forms an integral part of Wesleyan life.

The VETERROPT staff endeavors to give each Wesleyan student a permanent record of her life at Wesleyan. Familiar faces, candid shots of campus activities, favorite sports, club members, publication staffs and school organization are pictured in the VETERROPT to give an all-inclusive picture of unforgettable days at college. In this pictorial record the staff tries to catch something of the spirit that is peculiar to Wesleyan, so that it may live on with each Wesleyanne after college days are past. It is with pride then, that the staff presents the new 1940 yearbook. Its theme is "Careers" and its aim is to be

The Watchtower

Only a few understand the behind-the-scene workings of Wesleyan's newspaper. The reporters know the rush to check the assignment sheet, the relentless tracking down of news, the frantic typing to make the deadline, and the feeling of satisfaction when their stories come out in print. Editors remember afternoons at the printers, hurried rewrite jobs, heads, and scoops. The business staff can tell volumes about getting ads, paying bills, and getting the Watchtower to the waiting public while the news is still hot.

All the staff appreciates Mr. Gwin, who has helped them make Wesleyan proud of the Watchtower, Wesleyan's own newspaper.

The Wesleyan gives students an opportunity to publish their short stories, poems, essays, book reviews, and plays. Each year this school magazine sponsors a contest to uncover new literary talent on the campus. Dr. Gwin, the Wesleyan advisor, acts in co-operation with the staff as judge of this contest. The chief aims of The Wesleyan are to encourage creative writing among the students, to provide a medium for self expression, and at the same time, to give pleasure to its enthusiastic readers.

I. R. C.

The International Relations Club is an organization composed of those students who are especially interested in world affairs and in current problems. At its monthly meetings the I. R. C. strives to present the best possible speakers for Wesleyan students. Lecturers from foreign countries and other guest speakers, as well as faculty members keep students well informed. This year the club sponsored a sale of magazine subscriptions. With Dr. Sherriff as its capable faculty advisor I. R. C. has been very active in promoting interest in and knowledge of world affairs. The Wesleyan club is a member of the Georgia Conference of International Relations Clubs and is affiliated with the Carnegie Endowment for World Peace.

The purpose of the League of Women Voters is to further good citizenship and intelligent participation in government. The three-fold aim of this non-partisan organization is to inform students of issues, to teach them to vote wisely, and to co-operate with our elected representatives. Guest speakers alternate with student discussions on the monthly programs. This year the League made a special effort to see that every girl was registered to vote and voted either by personal or by absentee ballot. A minstrel show sponsored by the League was an outstanding event of the first semester. The Wesleyan League is affiliated with the State and National League of Women Voters and co-operates with them on their projects for the year.

Glee Club

The Glee Club, with one of the largest memberships of any club on campus proves that choral singing is a very popular diversion for students. This love for music plus the magnetic personality of Mr. Zorin, the club's expert director, and the hope for a concert tour which will include Emory, keep the girls reporting faithfully for practice twice a week. The hard-earned Glee Club keys are treasured. For concerts in Macon and out of town, the College and Conservatory Glee Clubs unite.

For the music which adds solemnity, reverence, and beauty to the Wesleyan chapel services, we owe appreciation to the Vesper Choir. The Choir meets twice each week to prepare music for chapel and special services. On Thanksgiving morning the choir serenades the student body and leads the way to the impressive Morning Watch service. After the Christmas banquet an inspiring program is given in the Grand Parlor.

Interest in the life, literature, and customs of France is promoted by the French Club. Members are chosen from the advanced and intermediate French classes. The monthly meetings are conducted entirely in French to develop skill in conversation. Active campaigns for French Relief are a regular part of the club work. Some delightful skits of French life and some very entertaining travel movies as well as songs and records of French music are included on the programs. Members are proud to wear their French Club keys as a visible result of their work with the French Club. Dr. Stewart, Dr. Wolfe, and Miss Kern are the club's very helpful and stimulating sponsors.

The Fine Arts Club is a campus organization composed of girls majoring in Fine Arts and of other girls with an outstanding interest in art and a semester of credit in an art course. The purpose of this club is to further the interest of students in the history of art and related subjects. At the monthly meetings of this organization the members enjoy motion pictures, lectures by prominent persons in the field of art, and informal talks by the art staff and club members. Interest in exhibits which come to the college galleries is fostered by the club. The Fine Arts Club sponsors a Bridge Tournament every year.

Scribes

ROSEMARY BOUNDS, President

Scribes is an honorary literary organization which has as its purpose the recognition of young writers and the stimulation of creative ability. Members are chosen from the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors who have made notable contributions to college publications. The red, blue, and green mingled yarn which is given at an impressive chapel ceremony in the spring is the most distinctive literary honor at Wesleyan. Editing and publishing the spring issue of the Wesleyan is one of the chief functions of the Scribes. This issue containing the works of the most talented writers on the campus is eagerly awaited each year.

Dance Club

ANNE RAGAN, President

The Dance Club, student organized and directed, is one of the most popular organizations. The members meet once a week in the gym to take various bar exercises, and to practice graceful dances. The outstanding activity of the club is its participation in the May Day Festival. Its colorful programs of dances help make May Day one of the most eagerly awaited occasions of the year. This year the club sponsored an informal dance and entertained guests at intermission with an Arabian pageant.

Tennis Club

Members of the Tennis Club are selected according to ability shown in Fall tryouts. The club sponsors two tournaments a year in which any Wesleyan may participate. During the year club members compete for positions on their tennis ladder. The four high ranking finalists receive Tennis "W's".

R. Atkinson, P. Carswell, P. Train, A. Vinson, L. Domingos, E. Carlton.

W Club

Students who have earned 500 points in athletic activity during a school year become members of the "W" Club. Winning 500 additional points the next year entitles a "W" Club member to a star, while her third 500 points wins her a pin. Club members referee in campus athletic activities and increase student interest in sports.

JUNIOR TEAM

The Wesleyan equivalent to college football is soccer. Early in the fall Wesleyannes go out for soccer with their characteristic enthusiasm. Whether they become members of the team, water boys, managers, or simply part of the spirited cheering section, each Wesleyanne looks forward to the soccer season as a time of excitement, pageantry and color. Class spirit receives a great boost during the days of pep parades, cheering sessions, and decorating committee meetings, as each team determines to win. The three days of games reach a climactic conclusion on Thanksgiving morning, which is totally devoted to soccer, as the soccer finals are played off and the winning team announced.

May Day

May Day was revived at Wesleyan only last year, but has already become one of Wesleyan's loveliest events. All the traditional charm of the May pole is enhanced by bright hoop skirts and graceful dances. Members of the May Court are chosen from the student body for their beauty and grace. Annie Anderson has been named May Queen of the 1948 Court and Hattie Black Baker, Maid of Honor. The Court includes Elizabeth Tucker, Anne Ragan, Sarah Curry, Margaret Moffett, Martha Groover, Beth Parker, Wilhelmina Taylor, Sue Settle, Betty Jean Mayher, Nan Stanley, Rhea von Lehe, Jeannette Wei, Jean Elson, Joan Coart and Barbara Cappel.

Junior Class

"Oh, we came to Wesleyan one morning. . . ."

Singing the lilting refrain (to the tune of I've Got Spurs) the Class of '49 bound into the "ancient halls of yor", bringing with them . . . Vim . . . Vigor . . . School Spirit!

Now, three years later, we look back with nostalgic affection upon the hectic, but lovable memories of our Freshman and Sophomore years . . . Stop Days . . . Big Sisters . . . Stunt Night (which we won!) . . . the Bizarre . . . and last but not least, the Graduation of Our "Sister" Class!

But let us not regress! Let us look at the present. Now WE are the Sister Class. We find ourselves a change. A maturity of which we had not been aware. An air of acceptance learned from the hardest teacher of them all . . . Experience.

Thus, with our newly acquired knowledge of life and responsibility, we add our Junior year to our memoirs . . . round the last turn of the road of education . . . and with heads high, voices raised in song, march triumphantly on to the glorious title of SENIOR.

Banging trunks . . . falling plaster . . . porters dashing and dragging about . . . doors slamming . . . the excited screams that always accompany reunions . . . and we were back for another year at Wesleyan. No longer did we worry what might happen to us. We KNEW. We belonged, because we were SOPHOMORES.

We unpacked our crew clothes . . . bought a new set of water colors . . . limbered up the fingers and vocal cords . . . and then allowed the enthusiasm to spill over into play time. There was the Thanksgiving barn dance . . . Valentine dance . . . and the Spring formal.

Chapels felt the sting of variety with spirited songs and strange announcements. We followed the example of our big sister class and became the composers of magnificent "ditties".

To put it simply . . . we came . . . we saw . . . we were conquered by Wesleyan.

Freshman Class

With an inner excitement making our eyes and cheeks glow and with butterflies in our stomach, the Freshmen arrived. The front door looked menacing and huge . . . the halls looked long and mysterious . . . and the upper classmen looked so calm and suave. But this was the moment we had been waiting for. We took a deep breath, prayed a silent prayer and began filling out the endless forms and answering the innumerable questions.

Soon each of us was in her own room. Roommates and suitemates were met, new friends were made and classes began. We took crew . . . history . . . music . . . and English in our stride. We soon discovered the wonderful comfort to be found in coffee at the "PHARM" after a particularly bad day.

Then came the joys of Conservatory life: weekends home . . . Halloween dance . . . Christmas formal . . . Spring holidays . . . and stop days. Before we knew it, all the terrors of college life had disappeared and only its brighter aspects remained, for now we, too, belonged to the great family that is the Wesleyan Conservatory.

The background of the entire page is a dramatic black and white illustration. It features a large, billowing white cloud against a dark sky. In the foreground, there are dark silhouettes of trees on the left and right sides. In the center, a man and a woman are walking away from the viewer, holding hands. To the right of the couple, there is a silhouette of a building with a dome. The overall mood is romantic and classic.
